APPARATUS CONDEMNED

Sealer Mikesell Gives Startling Figures in Annual Report

ONE-THIRD INACCURATE

The figures in an advance copy of the first annual report of County Sealer O. Evans Mikesell just given out are both illuminating and highly instructive. These figures which have been submitted to the proper authorities are in advance of the regular report which is now under process of compliation. The report will show more than 1,000 visitations with about 7,000 pieces of apparatus tested. About 33 1-3 per cent or one-third of all apparatus was condemned. The detailed report which will cover Washington, Charleroi, Donora, McDonald, Canonsburg and contiguous territory will show conditions to have been deplorable. It will show that while most violators were innocent offenders there are some who have made studied efforts to defraud the ultimate consumer. This report when issued in full will be of vast benefit to the consumer.

The high praise showered upon the local county department by the ultimate consumer and the congratulatory letters from the national and state weights and measures officials are all highly indicative of the esteem and appreciation held by the general public for the department.

The approximate figures of the report will show: Scales sealed, 779; condemned, 448; total, 1227; percentage condeemned, 36.51 per cent. Dry measures sealed, 1333; condemned, 563; total, 1896; percentage condemned, 29.69 per cent. Liquid measures sealed, 1148; condemned, 360; total, 1508; percentage condemned, 23.20 per cent. Linear measures sealed, 909; condemned, 25; total, 934; percentage condemned, 2.67 per cent. The linear measures were generally adjusted which accounts for the low percentage condemned. This is true also of weights.

The report will show no scales of over forty pounds capacity nor liquid measures of large capacity. The facilities for such inspection at present are not adequate for a successful test. The sealer reports that the work instantly jumped into popular favor and from all parts of the county requests are being made for tests. Outside reports indicate the same existing conditions and comment everywhere throughout the county favors more support for the department.

The Hon S. W. Stratton, director of the bureau of standards, department of commerce, Washington, D. C., in reference to the local report says: "Referring to your preliminary report showing the amount of work done by you during the past year, I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the good results obtained Your record would be a splendid one in a thickly settled community and is little short of extraordinary when the large amount of territory is considered.

"It must be gratifying to you to realize that notwithstanding the comparatively short time that you have been in office you should have attracted the attention and received the approbation of those officials most active in the movement for honest weights and measures throughout the country. Your election as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Annual Conference on Weights and Measures was ample evidence of the fact that your work was recognized."

The Hon. Louis A. Fisher, Chief of the Division of Weights and Measures of the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C. anent the report says: "The value of a weights and measures official is directly proportional to the amount of experience he has had and for this reason, it for no other, we would like to see you remain.

"During the short time that you have been in office your record is little short of marvelous, and I am very much astonished that you should have been able to find time to cover the territory that you have and to examine as many as 7,000 pieces of apparatus. The percentage condemned is ample evidence of the need of inspection and I sincerely trust that your county will recognize the value of the service rendered by you and award you accordingly. I know of no weights and measures official similarly situated who has accomplished such magnificent results, and am only too glad to testify to these facts for you."

The Hon. James Sweeney, Chief of the Bureau of Standards of Pennsylvania makes reply as follows: "The advanced copy of your annual report of inspections during the first year of your incumbency has been received by this Department and in reply thereto, permit me to commend you for the excellent work you have accomplished for the people of your county in the first year of your service.

"When one considers the many difficulties and disadvantages in the way of a new inspector in arranging the work and in making the people understand the purposes of the law so that the best possible results may be obtained with the least possible friction, you certainly have good and sufficient reasons to feel proud of your first year's work. Your experience will prove of great advantage to you in your future work, as your experience is an asset in this work that should receive the fullest consideration."

Murray G. Livingston, City Sealer of Pittsburg, commenting upon the local situation says: "Permit me to tender my earnest congratulations upon the splendid results attained by your inspection of weights and measures in Washington county. You have every reason to feel proud of your work and the County Officials must feel honored by your report. Working, as you do, without assistance and without rapid transportation facilition, the number of pieces of apparatus tested and ground covered is amazing. Your county commissioners are to be congratulated upon the success of your work and the wisdom they displayed in creating the department and their choice of an appointee."

Favor City Charter Idea

Monessen Business Men Meet and Will Put Third Class Scheme Before People

The third class city proposition was discussed by about 25 of the leading citizens of Monessen at a meeting held Monday night, and decision was reached to call a mass meeting of citizens to further consider the matter of petitioning council to call a special election. At the Monday night meeting C. L. Senuck was chairman and Carl Woodward was secretary. All those present professed themselves to be in favor of the city idea.

BURGLARS OPERATE

Sharps Work Old Scheme in Monessen--Get $250 From Store

NO CLUES FURNISHED

Thomas Parnelli, a grocer of Schoonmaker and Rostraver streets, Monessen, is minus $250 as the result of the operations of sharps Monday afternoon.

Parnelli was busy behind his counters when a stranger came in. The stranger began dickering for watermelons, claiming he wanted to buy several. While the two men were engaged in conversation the telephone rang. Parnelli answered and a voice over the wire informed him that his presence was desired immediately at a produce house some blocks distant.

The grocer called his wife from the back part of the house to wait on the stranger, and left for the produce house Arriving there he was informed that he was not wanted. Back to the store he went, worried over the unusual occurrence. His wife told him the man had not bought any watermelons.

Then Parnelli went to a back room where the bulk of the money was usually kept and found a $250 roll missing. It is supposed that while the stranger engaged Mrs. Parnelli in conversation, after her husband had been attracted away, a confederate entered the rear of the house and knowing where to look had gone to the cash drawer and taken the money. No clues are to be had as to the whereabouts of the supposed thieves.

FATHER OF J. E. M'CARDLE DIES AT AGE OF 99

Philip McCardle, father of J. E. McCardle, postmaster at Charleroi, died Friday afternoon at Triadelphia, W. Va., west of West Alexander. He was near the century mark, being 99 years old.

Phillip McCardle was one of the oldest residents of West Virginia He was also one of the state's most highly respected sons. In the year 1844 he accepted a position with the B & O railroad after working for several years on the roads in Scotland and Ireland. He was born in Newport, Pratt county, Mayo, Ireland, May 1, 1814 and witnessed the evolution of railroad machinery. He worked faithfully for the B. & O. at Philadelphia and went to Wheeling, where he secured work with the old Hempfield company. When that company was taken over by the B. & O. he continued in the service until 1898, when he retired. During his entire employment there he walked from the Hempfield shops at Wheeling, W. Va., to his Triadelphia home, the total distance covered in all his walking completing several times the circumference of the earth He was the first man who walked through the tunnel, Tunnel Green, near Wheeling.

For his many years as a faithful employe the B. & O. company rewarded him with a diamond studded medal. This was proudly displayed by Mr. McCardle at the receent semi-centennial exhibit in the old Hempfield yards, the scene of his early activities.

Mr. McCardle is survived by his son at Charleroi and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Cracraft with whom he resided. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, Wheeling, W. Va.

CONNELLSVILLE WOULD LIKE TO BE A REAL CITY

Efforts May be Made Under New Law to Acquire Approved City Charter

To determine whether or not Connellsville comes under the provisions of the Clark commission government act for cities of the third class, the municipal league and the chamber of commerce at a mass meeting of citizens, have decided to carry the matter into court for a decision.

Four candidates will be put in the field to make a test case in court. One will run for burgess under the borough form of government, one for mayor under the act of 1889, one for mayor, non-partisan, under the Clark commission law and one for city council under the Clark law.

In this manner will be determined whether Connellsville is to become a city under the Clark law, whether it is to proceed under the act of 1889 which the Clark law repeals, or whether it remains a borough.

Connellsville voters declared in favor of a city in November, 1910. The issuance of a charter was delayed until May, following but a court interpretation of an amendment to the third class city act of June 21, 1911, prevented the institution of a city administration. No municipal election has been held in Connellsville since February, 1909.

WORK TO START SOON

The commissioners of Washington and Fayette counties in joint session at Uniontown Monday awarded the contract for the erection of the substructure of the Brownsville bridge over the Monongahela river to the Crossan Construction company of Philadelphia. This firm's bid was $70,000 as compared with $78,000 by the E. M. Wichert company.

The work is to be started by the Crossan company within 10 days and the bridge is to be completed by December 1. The firm is to pay the commissioners of the two counties $50 a day for every day after this date and a bonus of $25 is to be paid by the commissioners for every day before this date the substructure is finished.

The work on the substructure will be superintendended by County Engineer George Porter of Fayette county and County Engineer George Chaney of Washington county. The officials of the two counties believe as a result of the test made Saturday that only one pier of the bridge abutments will have to be piled.

The contract for the superstructure of the bridge is to be let within five weeks. The advertising for bids for this part of the bridge will be started within the next two weeks.

OUR NEW MARRIAGE LAW.

The so-called eugenic marriage law of this state does not go far in embodying the principles of eugenics in statutory law, but it makes progress in that direction, says the Philadelphia Press. Only people in fairly good health should marry. No one will dispute this as a geneeral principle, through many disregard it in practice. Under the new law no person afflicted with a transmissible disease can receive a marriage license without adding the crime eof perjury to his or her offense against hygenics and to the grievous wrong contemplated against possible offspring.

The imbecile and the epileptic, the pauper and those of unsound mind are also excluded from the p rivilege of marrying. The act in question is one of a series of measures introduced by Mr. Richards of Allegheny, with the intent to protect the health of the human family. It is excellent in principle and will make the marriage of the unfit more difficult in this State.

The divine mandate to be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth cannot properly be construed to be of will be held by the law of Pennsylvania to exclude the pauper, the insane, the imbecile and the diseased. These will not be given a marriage license and without a license no marriage ceremony can be legally performed in the State of Pennsylvania.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A man riding on the front platform of a downtown horse car in a city where horse cars still run noticed standing beside him a tired-looking Irishman w ho held a heavy bundle on his shoulder.

"Why don't you set that bunale down?" asked the gentleman.

"Sure," said the Celt, "these poor horses have all they can do to dr-rag the car and the pay-ple. Oi'll carry the bundle."

Fred C. Kelly, the Washington writer tells a story in a series "Getting the News," of how J. Fred Essary, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, once played a mean trick on the people of Portsmouth, Va.

Portsmouth is a small place, noted chiefly for being the seat of the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Essary found himself there one day in connection with some news event he was to cover. He also found that Portsmouth had a curfew ordinance. Each night at 9 o'clock the curfew sounded its dole worning and everybody within the range of the bell retired for the night. Essary, while loafing about waiting for a train out of the place, fell in with the man who had charge of ringing the curfew bell, engaged him in conversation and won his confidence. He persuaded the man to share his view that to ring the bell at 7 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock just that once could not possibly do any harm. So they rang the curfew at 7 o'clock.

And at 7 o'clock everybody in the little town went right straight to bed.

WILL OPEN NEW MINES IN CONTTY

Mount Pleasant and Cecil townships will have two new coal mines. Operations have been started by the Pittsburg Coal company to detvelop some new territory along the new Montour railroad. One of the mines will be on the Cowden farm at Bishop in Cecil township and the other on the Geoerge farm at George Station in Mt. Pleasant township.

A force of men is at work at each opening and the work will be pushed to completion so that the company will be ready to operate the two new mines by the time the new railroad is in operation.

At the Scwden farm contracts have been let for the erection of 75 houses, while on the George farm contracts have been let for 65 houses. At the present time temporary shanties have been erected to take care of the men who are opening the mines. Machinery is being placed on the grounds every day and from the present outlook two new mining centers will soon be established in the county.

The machinery for the new developments is being brought in over the Wabash and George Station has been moved about 200 yards further west to be nearer the new line of the Montour which crosses at this point. George Station has heretofore been a stop for milk only but now it has been made a regular station and promises to become one of the busiest stops on the Wabash. The land where this mine is being opened at one time belonged to Gen. George Washington, first president of the United States.

The Pittsburg Coal company owns large holdings along the route of this new railroad and it is expected that other mines will be opened soon.

An Ohioan shot himself when he saw the doctor coming. Probably he realized it was all up with him anyhow.

PRICE REDUCTIONS FORCED BY APPROACH OF INVENTORY

The power as well as the versatility of a dollar in this Store keeps increasing from the first to the last of July. As the buyers prepare for the semi-annual inventory, July 31st, they find additional stocks that must be sold. On these they put the lowest kind of prices to minimize stocks before inventory.

In thus reducing stocks semi-annually this Store follows one of its most important policies. It would be quite possible to hold over a considerable part of this year's merchandise and sell it next season, but we assume that our customers want this year's goods this year and next year's goods next year.

Therefore we sell now at reduced prices what is left over this year. By so doing we liberate funds and make space for new merchandise, and do not have to try to get rid of stale goods in ensuing seasons.

We have no goods in the house that do not merit your confidence. We do not have to modify our guarantee of quality even when closing out remainders of stock.

APPARATUS CONDEMNED

Sealer Mikesell Gives Startling Figures in Annual Report

ONE-THIRD INACCURATE

The figures in an advance copy of the first annual report of County Sealer O. Evans Mikesell just given out are both illuminating and highly instructive. These figures which have been submitted to the proper authorities are in advance of the regular report which is now under process of compilation. The report will show more than 1,000 visitations with about 7,000 pieces of apparatus tested. About 33 1-3 per cent or one-third of all apparatus was condemned. The detailed report which will cover Washington, Charleroi, Donora, McDonald, Canonsburg and contiguous territory will show conditions to have been deplorable. It will show that while most violators were innocent offenders there are some who have made studied efforts to defraud the ultimate consumer. This report when issued in full will be of vast benefit to the consumer.

The high praise showered upon the local county department by the ultimate consumer and the congratulatory letters from the national and state weights and measures officials are all highly indicative of the esteem and appreciation held by the general public for the department.

The approximate figures of the report will show: Scales sealed, 779; condemned, 448; total, 1227; percentage condeemned, 36.51 per cent. Dry measures sealed, 1333; condemned, 568; total, 1896; percentage condemned, 29.69 per cent. Liquid measures sealed, 1148; condemned, 360; total, 1508; percentage condemned, 23.20 per cent. Linear measures sealed, 909; condemned, 25; total, 934; percentage condemned, 2.67 per cent. The linear measures were generally adjusted which accounts for the low percentage condemned. This is true also of weighis.

The report will show no scales of over forty pounds capacity nor liquid measures of large capacity. The facilities for such inspection at present are not adequate for a successful test. The sealer reports that the work instantly jumped into popular favor and from all parts of the county requests are being made for tests. Outside reports indicate the same existing conditions and comment everywhere throughout the county favors more support for the department.

The Hon S. W. Stratton, director of the bureau of standards, department of commerce, Washington, D. C., in reference to the local report says: "Referring to your preliminary report showing the amount of work done by you during the past year, I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the good results obtained. Your record would be a splendid one in a thickly settled community and is little short of extraordinary when the large amount of territory is considered.

"It must be gratifying to you to realize that notwithstanding the comparatively short time that you have been in office you should have attracted the attention and received the approbation of those officials most active in the movement for honest weights and measures throughout the country. Your election as a member of the Executive Committee of the National Annual Conference on Weights and Measures was ample evidence of the fact that your work was recognized."

The Hon. Louis A. Fischer, Chief of the Division of Weights and Measures of the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C. anent the report says: "The value of a weights and measures official is directly proportional to the amount of experience he has had and for this reason, it for no other, we would like to see you remain.

"During the short time that you have been in office your record is little short of marvelous, and I am very much astonished that you should have been able to find time to cover the territory that you have and to examine as many as 7,000 pieces of apparatus. The percentage condemned is ample evidence of the need of inspection and I sincerely trust that your county will recognize the value of the service rendered by you and award you accordingly. I know of no weights and measures official similarly situated who has accomplished such magnificent results, and am only too glad to testify to these facts for you."

The Hon. James Sweeney, Chief of the Bureau of Standards of Pennsylvania makes reply as follows: "The advanced copy of your annual report of inspections during the first year of your incumbency has been received by this Department and in reply thereto, permit me to commend you for the excellent work you have accomplished for the people of your county in the first year of your service.

"When one considers the many difficulties and disadvantages in the way of a new inspector in arranging the work and in making the people understand the purposes of the law so that the best possible results may be obtained with the least possible friction, you certainly have good and sufficient reasons to feel proud of your first year's work. Your experience will prove of great advantage to you in your future work, as your experience is an asset in this work that should receive the fullest consideration."

Murray G. Livingston, City Sealer of Pittsburg, commenting upon the local situation says: "Permit me to tender my earnest congratulations upon the splendid results attained by your inspection of weights and measures in Washington county. You have every reason to feel proud of your work and the County Officials must feel honored by your report. Working, as you do, without assistance and without rapid transportation facilition, the number of pieces of apparatus tested and ground covered is amazing. Your county commissioners are to be congratulated upon the success of your work and the wisdom they displayed in creating the department and their choice of an appointee."

BURGLARS OPERATE

Sharps Work Old Scheme in Monessen--Get $250 From Store

NO CLUES FURNISHED

Thomas Parnelli, a grocer of Schoonmaker and Rostraver streets, Monessen, is minus $250 as the result of the operations of sharps Monday afternoon.

Parnelli was busy behind his counters when a stranger came in. The stranger began dickering for watermelons, claiming he wanted to buy several. While the two men were engaged in conversation the telephone rang. Parnelli answered and a voice over the wire informed him that his presence was desired immediately at a produce house some blocks distant.

The grocer called his wife from the back part of the house to wait on the stranger, and left for the produce house. Arriving there he was informed that he was not wanted. Back to the store he went, worried over the unusual occurrence. His wife told him the man had not bought any watermelons.

Then Parnelli went to a back room where the bulk of the money was usually kept and found a $250 roll missing. It is supposed that while the stranger engaged Mrs. Parnelli in conversation, after her husband had been attracted away, a confederate entered the rear of the house and knowing where to look had gone to the cash drawer and taken the money. No clues are to be had as to the whereabouts of the supposed thieves.

FATHER OF J. E. M'CARDLE DIES AT AGE OF 99

Philip McCardle, father of J. E. McCardle, postmaster at Charleroi, died Friday afternoon at Triadelphia, W. Va., west of West Alexander. He was near the century mark, being 99 years old.

Phillip McCardle was one of the oldest residents of West Virginia He was also one of the state's most highly respected sons. In the year 1844 he accepted a position with the B & O railroad after working for several years on the roads in Scotland and Ireland. He was born in Newport, Pratt county, Mayo, Ireland, May 1, 1814 and witnessed the evolution of railroad machinery. He worked faithfully for the B. & O. at Philadelphia and went to Wheeling, where he secured work with the old Hempfield company. When that company was taken over by the B. & O. he continued in the service until 1898, when he retired. During his entire employment there he walked from the Hempfield shops at Wheeling, W. Va., to his Triadelphia home, the total distance covered in all his walking completing several times the circumference of the earth. He was the first man who walked through the tunnel, Tunnel Green, near Wheeling.

For his many years as a faithful employe the B. & O. company rewarded him with a diamond studded medal. This was proudly displayed by Mr. McCardle at the receent semi-centennial exhibit in the old Hempfield yards, the scene of his early activities.

Mr. McCardle is survived by his son at Charleroi and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Cracraft with whom he resided. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, Wheeling, W. Va.

CONNELLSVILLE WOULD LIKE TO BE A REAL CITY

Efforts May be Made Under New Law to Acquire Approved City Charter

To determine whether or not Connellsville comes under the provisions of the Clark commission government act for cities of the third class, the municipal league and the chamber of commerce at a mass meeting of citizens, have decided to carry the matter into court for a decision.

Four candidates will be put in the field to make a test case in court. One will run for burgess under the borough form of government, one for mayor under the act of 1889, one for mayor, non-partisan, under the Clark commission law and one for city council under the Clark law.

In this manner will be determined whether Connellsville is to become a city under the Clark law, whether it is to proceed under the act of 1889 which the Clark law repeals, or whether it remains a borough.

Connellsville voters declared in favor of a city in November, 1910. The issuance of a charter was delayed until May, following but a court interpretation of an amendment to the third class city act of June 21, 1911, prevented the institution of a city administration. No municipal election has been held in Connellsville since February, 1909.

OUR NEW MARRIAGE LAW.

The so-called eugenic marriage law of this state does not go far in embodying the principles of eugenics in statutory law, but it makes progress in that direction, says the Philadelphia Press. Only people in fairly good health should marry. No one will dispute this as a geneeral principle, through many disregard it in practice. Under the new law no person afflicted with a transmissible disease can receive a marriage license without adding the crime of perjury to his or her offense against hygenics and to the grievous wrong contemplated against possible offspring.

The imbecile and the epileptic, the pauper and those of unsound mind are also excluded from the privilege of marrying. The act in question is one of a series of measures introduced by Mr. Richards of Allegheny, with the intent to protect the health of the human family. It is excellent in principle and will make the marriage of the unfit more difficult in this State.

The divine mandate to be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth cannot properly be construed to be of will be held by the law of Pennsylvania to exclude the pauper, the insane, the imbecile and the diseased. These will not be given a marriage license and without a license no marriage ceremony can be legally performed in the State of Pennsylvania.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A man riding on the front platform of a downtown horse car in a city where horse cars still run noticed standing beside him a tired-looking Irishman w ho held a heavy bundle on his shoulder.

"Why don't you set that bundle down?" asked the gentleman.

"Sure," said the Celt, "these poor horses have all they can do to dr-rag the car and the pay-ple. Oi'll carry the bundle."

Fred C. Kelly, the Washington writer tells a story in a series "Getting the News," of how J. Fred Es[illegible] the Baltimore Sun, once played a mean trick on the people of Portsmouth, Va.

Portsmouth is a small place, noted chiefly for being the seat of the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Essary found himself there one day in connection with some news event he was to cover. He also found that Portsmouth had a curfew ordinance. Each night at 9 o'clock the curfew sounded its dole warning and everybody within the range of the bell retired for the night. Essary, while loafing about waiting for a train out of the place, fell in with the man who had charge of ringing the curfew bell, engaged him in conversation and won his confidence. He persuaded the man to share his view that to ring the bell at 7 o'clock instead of 9 o'clock just that once could not possibly do any harm. So they rang the curfew at 7 o'clock.

And at 7 o'clock everybody in the little town went right straight to bed.

WILL OPEN NEW MINES IN CONTTY

Mount Pleasant and Cecil townships will have two new coal mines. Operations have been started by the Pittsburg Coal company to detvelop some new territory along the new Montour railroad. One of the mines will be on the Cowden farm at Bishop in Cecil township and the other on the Geoerge farm at George Station in Mt. Pleasant township.

A force of men is at work at each opening and the work will be pushed to completion so that the company will be ready to operate the two new mines by the time the new railroad is in operation.

At the Sowden farm contracts have been let for the erection of 75 houses, while on the George farm contracts have been let for 65 houses. At the present time temporary shanties have been erected to take care of the men who are opening the mines. Machinery is being placed on the grounds every day and from the present outlook two new mining centers will soon be established in the county.

The machinery for the new developments is being brought in over the Wabash and George Station has been moved about 200 yards further west to be nearer the new line of the Montour which crosses at this point. George Station has heretofore been a stop for milk only but now it has been made a regular station and promises to become one of the busiest stops on the Wabash. The land where this mine is being opened at one time belonged to Gen. George Washington, first president of the United States.

The Pittsburg Coal company owns large holdings along the route of this new railroad and it is expected that other mines will be opened soon.

An Ohioan shot himself when he saw the doctor coming. Probably he realized it was all up with him anyhow.

PRICE REDUCTIONS FORCED BY APPROACH OF INVENTORY

The power as well as the versatility of a dollar in this Store keeps increasing from the first to the last of July. As the buyers prepare for the semi-annual inventory, July 31st, they find additional stocks that must be sold. On these they put the lowest kind of prices to minimize stocks before inventory.

In thus reducing stocks semi-annually this Store follows one of its most important policies. It would be quite possible to hold over a considerable part of this year's merchandise and sell it next season, but we assume that our customers want this year's goods this year and next year's goods next year.

Therefore we sell now at reduced prices what is left over this year. By so doing we liberate funds and make space for new merchandise, and do not have to try to get rid of stale goods in ensuing seasons.

We have no goods in the house that do not merit your confidence. We do not have to modify our guarantee of quality even when closing out remainders of stock.
